Date of decision: 03/02/97

ORAL JUDGEMENT : (Per R.K. Abichandani, J.)

Following question has been referred by the Income Tax Appellate Tribunal, Ahmedabad for the opinion of this Court :-

" Whether on the facts and in the circumstances of the case, the Tribunal was justified in law in holding that payment of commission as aforesaid to the Managing Director was includible as remuneration for determining the disallowance u/s. 40(c) of the I.T. Act, 1961 on the ground that any payment in excess of Rs.72,000/- was liable to be disallowed, under the said provisions?"

The question is squarely covered by the opinion of this Court on a similar question in C.I.T. v. Rohit Mills Limited, reported in 219 ITR 228, in which my esteemed Brother, speaking for the Bench, opined that the term 'remuneration' was of a wider import than salary and that what was to be calculated in respect of a Director while computing the ceiling of "allowable expenditure", within the meaning of Section 40(c) is remuneration or benefit or amenity provided for the Director by the Company. Therefore, the question whether commission falls in 'remuneration or benefit' is to be looked at from that point of view and not from the point of view as to whether commission payable to a Director is 'salary' payable to an employee within the meaning of Section 40A(5). Following the said decision in Rohit Mills Limited (supra), we answer the question referred to us in the affirmative, in favour of the Revenue and against the Assessee. Reference stands disposed of accordingly.
